It's Who We Are.

As American Indian parents, we have always taught our children to be active and to participate in many physical activities.

PROUD. STRONG. ACTIVE.

Today we can keep the traditions of healthy children and healthy communities alive by encouraging our children to be active and joining them in physical activities for an hour a day. To learn more visit:

WWW.VERBPARENTS.COM

U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention