I have just reviewed the presentation Saftte Patient Handling adn Movement Principles, I really think it is good. I'm wondering if you could make it more toward all hospital employees rather than nurses. I am the manager of a Diagnostic Imaging Department and have been looking for something similar to this to help my staff members with lifting, etc. So many times these things are directed with titles of nursing and the other departments are resistant to use them and the staff feels like they are only being shown things like this after the nurses are through with it. It seems to me that ALL PATIENT CARE TEAM members shoudl be included. I know that in most radiology departments patients are moved to and from the tables from stretchers and wheelchairs many times a day. I would love to be able to give my employees the opportunity to use this information. Thank you!
