KID1: Please don't smoke in here.

KID: 2: Be careful with that bug spray.

KID3: Hey, open a window, will ya?

ANNCR:

If you live in a FEMA trailer, you may have heard that the air quality inside your home may be making you and your family sick. But there are simple steps you can take to improve the air quality in your home. Steps such as opening a window, if you can, to let fresh air in, using bug spray only when you need to, never smoking inside your trailer as well as finding and getting rid of mold; can improve the air dramatically. Right now you can get lots of helpful information from the CDC on how to improve the air in your home. Just call 1-800-CDC- INFO. That's 1-800-CDC-INFO.

KID (Takes a breath): Ah... That's better. Thanks.

ANNCR: Protect your family's health. Call 1-800-CDC-INFO today, and start breathing easier. A message from the Centers For Disease Control And Prevention and the Department of Health and Human Services.
