Smoking is the leading cause of preventable death, killing more than 1,300 Americans each day. For every person who dies because of smoking, at least 30 people live with a serious smoking-related illness. Reducing smoking is one proven way we can help people live longer, healthier lives.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) developed the Tips From Former Smokers campaign to raise awareness about the suffering caused by smoking and secondhand smoke exposure and to encourage smokers to quit. The campaign targets smokers ages 18–54 as well as parents, family members, health care providers, and adolescents.
