

Want hands-on experience in public health?

Your health department is looking for students like you to join their team and help them investigate outbreaks.

Why join the team?

Training and Experience

Hands-on experience prepares you for your career in public health. Participating on a student team provides you top notch training and will prepare you for a career in public health.

Degree Requirements

Do you have a capstone, thesis, or practicum requirement? Participating on a student team might satisfy those degree requirements. Check with your program coordinator.

Distributed by: