Single Source Justification Reasons Cited	The Ministry of Health and Social Services (MOHSS) is the sole government entity charged with the operation of Namibia’s public healthcare system. It is the only body authorized by law to develop and implement health policies in the public health sector, and to enforce national health laws in the public and private healthcare sectors. The MOHSS exercises these responsibilities through a number of national directorates and regional directorates. As the government ministry with exclusive authority over the healthcare system, it is the only organization in Namibia eligible to receive direct government-to-government support for the HIV/AIDS activities proposed by CDC.
