

Breast cancer mortality is decreasing for both black and white women, especially among younger women.

However, even though death rates are going down, we need to do more to level the field.

www.cdc.gov/cancer/breast

