

Mike Gerber, MPH

Acting Chief of the Global Disease Detection Branch,
Division of Global Health Protection,
Center for Global Health

Michael Gerber is the Acting Chief of the Global Disease Detection Branch in the Division of Global Health Protection. A Nutritional Epidemiologist by training, Michael has been with CDC for almost ten years as a Health Scientist, Deputy Chief and Chief. Michael started his career in Global Health at the age of 19 in Africa and has worked for non-governmental organizations, private corporations and CDC throughout Asia, Africa, the Middle East and Latin America.

A Nutritional Epidemiologist by training, Michael has been with IERHB for almost ten years as a Health Scientist, Deputy Chief and Chief. Michael started his career in Global Health at the age of 19 in Africa and has worked for non-governmental organizations, private corporations and CDC throughout Asia, Africa, the Middle East and Latin America.

