

Parent-Reported Diagnosis of ADHD by a Health Care Provider and Medication Treatment Among Children 4-17 Years: National Survey of Children's Health* – 2003 to 2011

Survey Question

Has a doctor or health care provider ever told you that your child had attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder or attention deficit disorder (ADHD or ADD)?

Does your child currently have ADHD or ADD?

In 2007, 7.2% of US children and 7.6% of children in Kansas had current ADHD, by parent report.

In 2011, 8.8% of US children and 9.5% of children in Kansas had current ADHD, by parent report.

2007

Among all US states, Kansas ranked 24th highest.

2011

Among all US states, Kansas ranked 22nd highest.

Is your child currently taking medication for ADHD or ADD?

In 2007, 4.8% of US children and 5.5% of children in Kansas were taking medication for ADHD.

In 2011, 6.1% of US children and 7.3% of children in Kansas were taking medication for ADHD.

2007

Among all US states, Kansas ranked 22nd highest.

2011

Among all US states, Kansas ranked 14th highest.

* The National Survey of Children's Health is conducted by CDC and sponsored by the Maternal and Child Health Bureau, HRSA: www.cdc.gov/nchs/slais/nsch.htm