Eating fresh fruits and vegetables is easier when they’re available in more places like corner stores and local markets. Communities across the country are working hard to increase access to healthy food options for families. Visit cdc.gov/deserve to find out more.

Our children deserve better food options.

Made possible with funding from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.