

2015 STD Surveillance Report

Dr. Jonathan Mermin on the nation's decisive moment regarding STDs:

"We have reached a decisive moment for the nation. STD rates are rising, and many of the country's systems for preventing STDs have eroded. We must mobilize, rebuild, and expand services – or the human and economic burden will continue to grow." - Dr. Jonathan Mermin, Director of CDC's National Center for HIV/AIDS, Viral Hepatitis, STD, and TB Prevention