Dear NIOSH,

I found the training video to be very helpful and informative. While targeted to nursing students, the training is applicable to a much larger audience. I suggest that you consider replacing "Hello Nursing Students" in the opening voice over with "Hello Nurses and other Health Care Workers." In the slides and the audio, broadening references from just "nursing" to "patient care staff" or "health care workers" will engage a much broader audience and allow safety advocates to link to the presentation as part of their injury prevention training programs.

Thank you for your consideration.
Kathy Gerwig
