

Prevention Status Reports—Summary for New York | 2013

The Prevention Status Reports (PSRs) highlight—for all 50 states and the District of Columbia—the status of public health policies and practices designed to prevent or reduce 10 important health problems or concerns. Below is a summary of New York’s PSR ratings for 2013.

PSR Policies and Practices by Topic	2013 PSR Rating
Excessive Alcohol Use
State beer tax	Red
State distilled spirits tax	Yellow
State wine tax	Red
Commercial host (dram shop) liability law	Green
Local authority to regulate alcohol outlet density	Red
Food Safety
Speed of pulsed-field gel electrophoresis (PFGE) testing of reported E. coli O157 cases	Yellow
Completeness of PFGE testing of reported Salmonella cases	Yellow
Healthcare-Associated Infections (HAIs)
State health department participation in statewide HAI prevention efforts	Green
Heart Disease and Stroke
Implementation of electronic health records	Yellow
Pharmacist collaborative drug therapy management policy	Yellow
HIV
State Medicaid reimbursement for routine HIV screening	Green
State HIV testing laws	Red
Reporting of CD4 and viral load data to state HIV surveillance program	Green
Motor Vehicle Injuries
Seat belt law	Yellow
Child passenger restraint law	Yellow
Graduated driver licensing system	Yellow
Ignition interlock law	Green
Nutrition, Physical Activity, and Obesity
Secondary schools not selling less nutritious foods and beverages	Data not available
State nutrition standards policy for foods and beverages sold or provided by state government agencies	Red
Inclusion of nutrition and physical activity standards in state regulations of licensed childcare facilities	Red
State physical education time requirement for high school students	Green
Average birth facility score for breastfeeding support	Yellow
Prescription Drug Overdose
State pain clinic law	Red
Prescription drug monitoring programs following selected best practices	Yellow
Teen Pregnancy
Expansion of state Medicaid family planning eligibility	Green
Tobacco Use
State cigarette excise tax	Green
Comprehensive state smoke-free policy	Green
Funding for tobacco control	Red

PSR Rating System***

Green	The policy or practice is established in accordance with supporting evidence and/or expert recommendations.
Yellow	The policy or practice is established in partial accordance with supporting evidence and/or expert recommendations.
Red	The policy or practice is either absent or not established in accordance with supporting evidence and/or expert recommendations.

*The rating systems for the Excessive Alcohol Use (<http://www.cdc.gov/stltpublichealth/psr/alcohol/>) and Nutrition, Physical Activity, and Obesity (<http://www.cdc.gov/stltpublichealth/psr/npao/>) reports varied slightly. For details, please visit their respective pages on the PSR website. A more detailed explanation of the PSR rating system is available at <http://www.cdc.gov/stltpublichealth/psr/>.

More Information

For more information about public health activities in New York, visit the New York State Department of Health website (<http://www.health.ny.gov/>). For additional resources and to view reports for other states, visit the CDC website (<http://www.cdc.gov/stltpublichealth/psr/>).

Suggested Citation

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Prevention Status Reports—Summary for New York, 2013. Atlanta, GA: US Department of Health and Human Services; 2014.

