Presentation Goals

- Briefly comment on the NCHHSTP SDH White Paper & Strategic Plan (Goal 3).
- Provide considerations for implementation in the plan for state health departments.
- Highlight the importance of partnerships.

Rationale Statement of Goal

“The concept of health equity is aspirational and focuses on the distribution of resources and other processes that drive a particular kind of health disparity.... It is important to examine the structural drivers of health disparities in addition to individual behaviors. “

- NCHHSTP & CDC must describe health equity in concrete terms.
- Work towards a common definition of health equity within the agency.
- Connect major funding/programmatic decision to structural drivers of health disparities.

Objective 3A

Develop, implement and evaluate a surveillance and public health prevention research agenda for addressing health disparities and fostering health equity in HIV/AIDS, viral hepatitis, STDs, and TB through comprehensive and multi-level approaches including addressing the social determinants of health.

- Must implement this beyond the Center.
- Extent to which surveillance and research drive the allocation of resources.

Syndemic Orientation of Health Systems

Syndemic orientation is defined as a way of thinking about public health work that focuses on connections among health-related problems, considers those connections when developing health policies, and aligns with other avenues of social change to ensure the conditions in which all people can be healthy.

Objective 3B

Mobilize partners and stakeholders to promote health equity and social determinants of health as it relates to HIV, viral hepatitis, STD, and TB prevention.

- Emphasis must be placed on “fostering collaboration within CDC and among other federal and Department of Health and Human Services agencies to facilitate the conduct of public health research to eliminate health disparities and to integrate studies of social determinants of health.
- What could these partnerships actually look like?

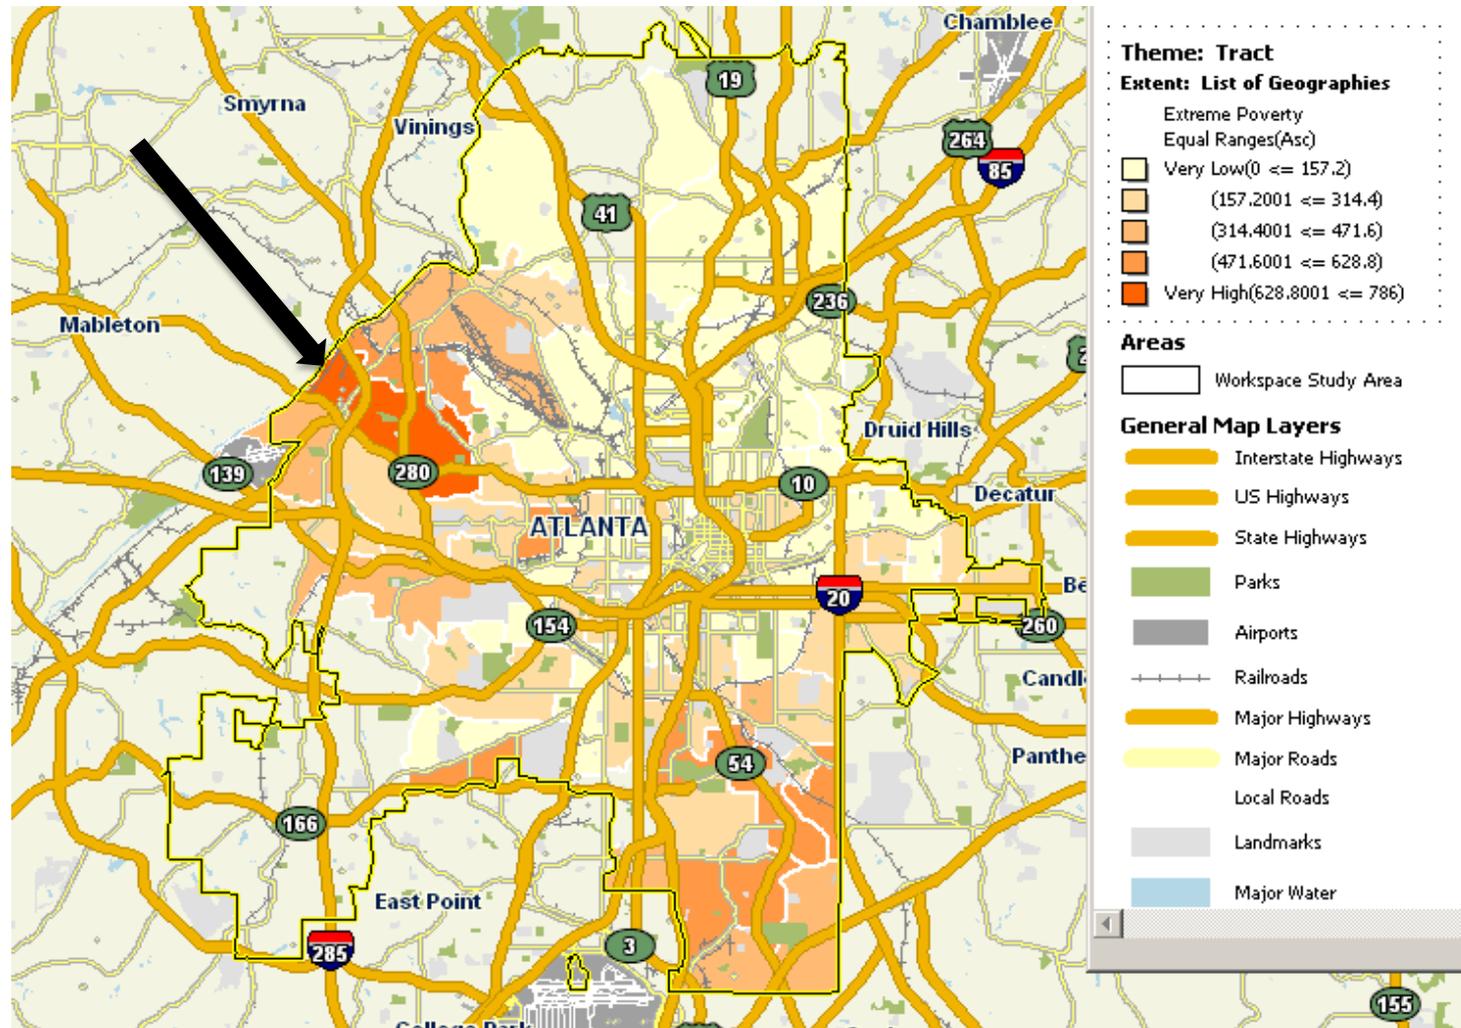

Objective 3C

Identify which social determinants of health are important to address to reduce health disparities in HIV/AIDS, viral hepatitis, STDs, and TB and develop and advance appropriate plans for addressing these social determinants in NCHHSTP programmatic and scientific work.

- Key to Success: “Develop strategic, multidisciplinary, and collaborative activities to facilitate novel cross-programmatic activities to reduce health disparities due to various social determinants of health.”
- Central Challenge: “Develop or refine methodologies for obtaining, analyzing and presenting data on social determinants of health”

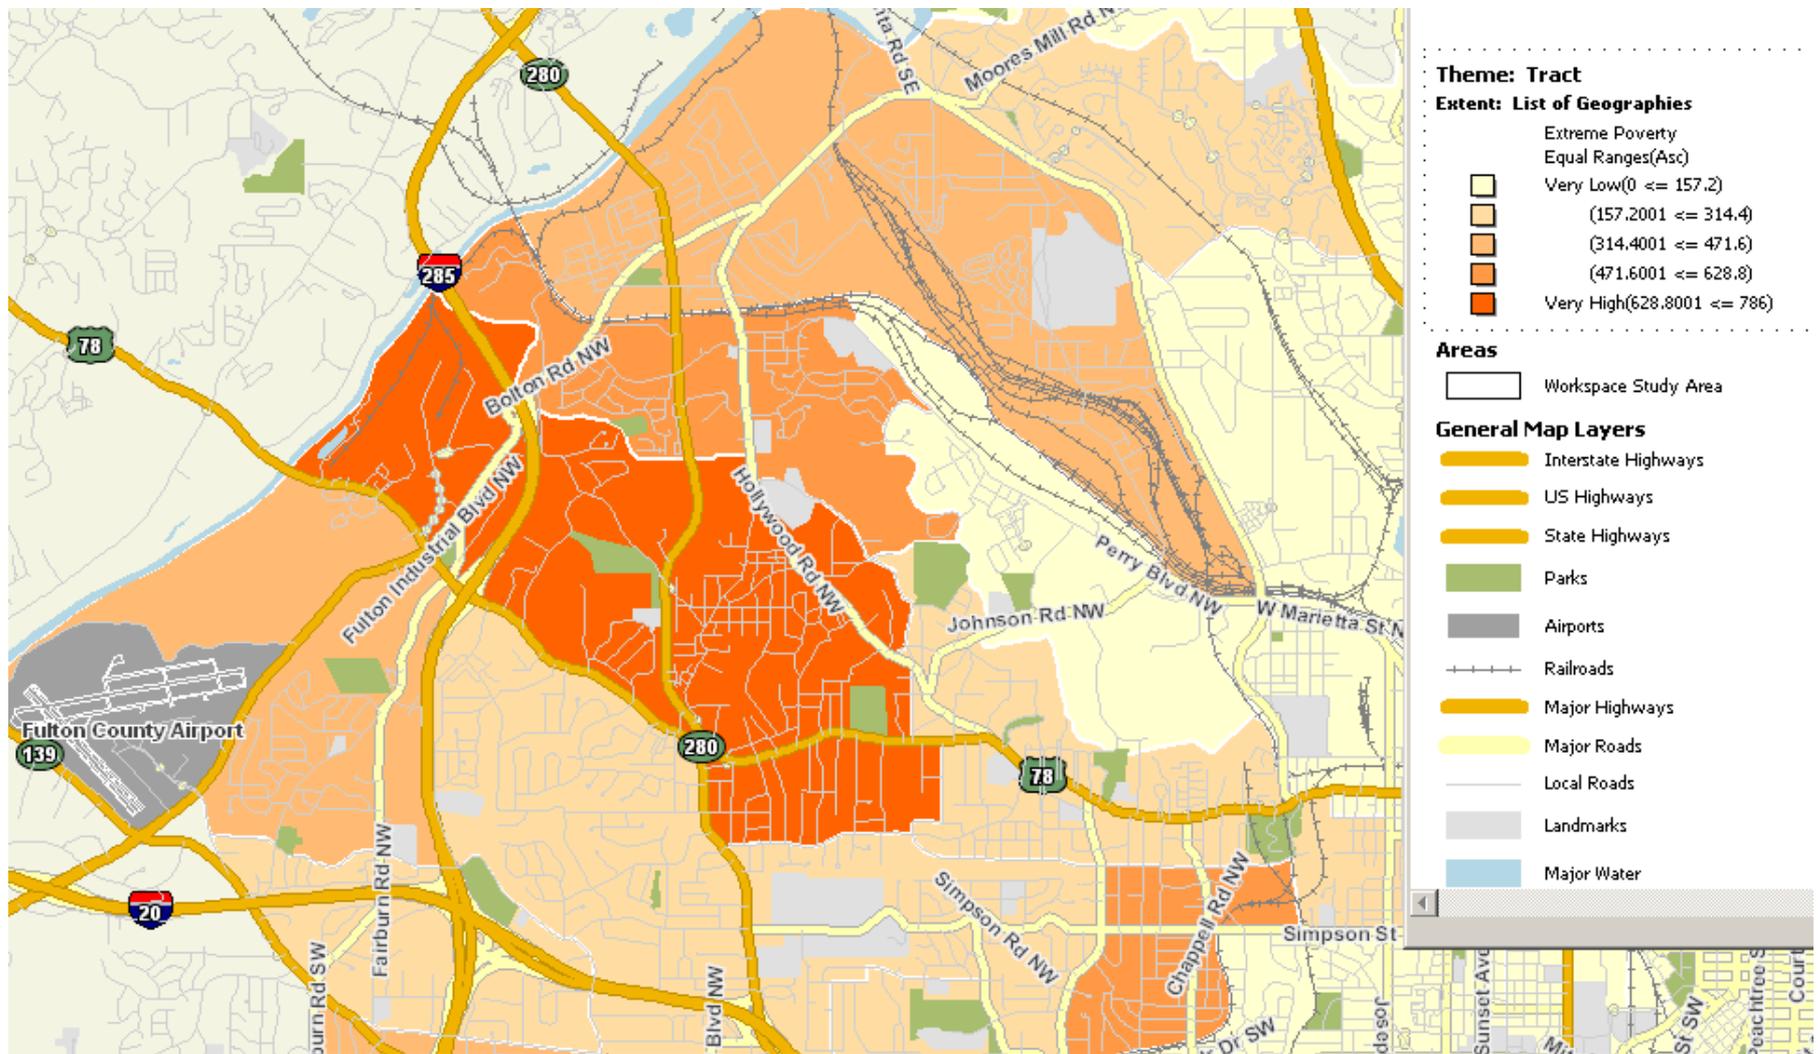

Strategy for Objective 3C

Methodologies for obtaining, analyzing and presenting data on social determinants of health for NCHHSTP diseases using existing or novel supplemental surveillance systems.
