In 2017, about 3.6 million U.S. middle & high school students were using tobacco products.

About half were using two or more products.