

Partnering for Vaccine Equity Program Overview

Partnering for Vaccine Equity

The program aims to increase vaccine equity by supporting partners to increase vaccine confidence and access through:

Support for national, state, local and community-based organizations that implement activities focused on vaccine awareness, access, availability, and confidence in disproportionately affected adult populations.

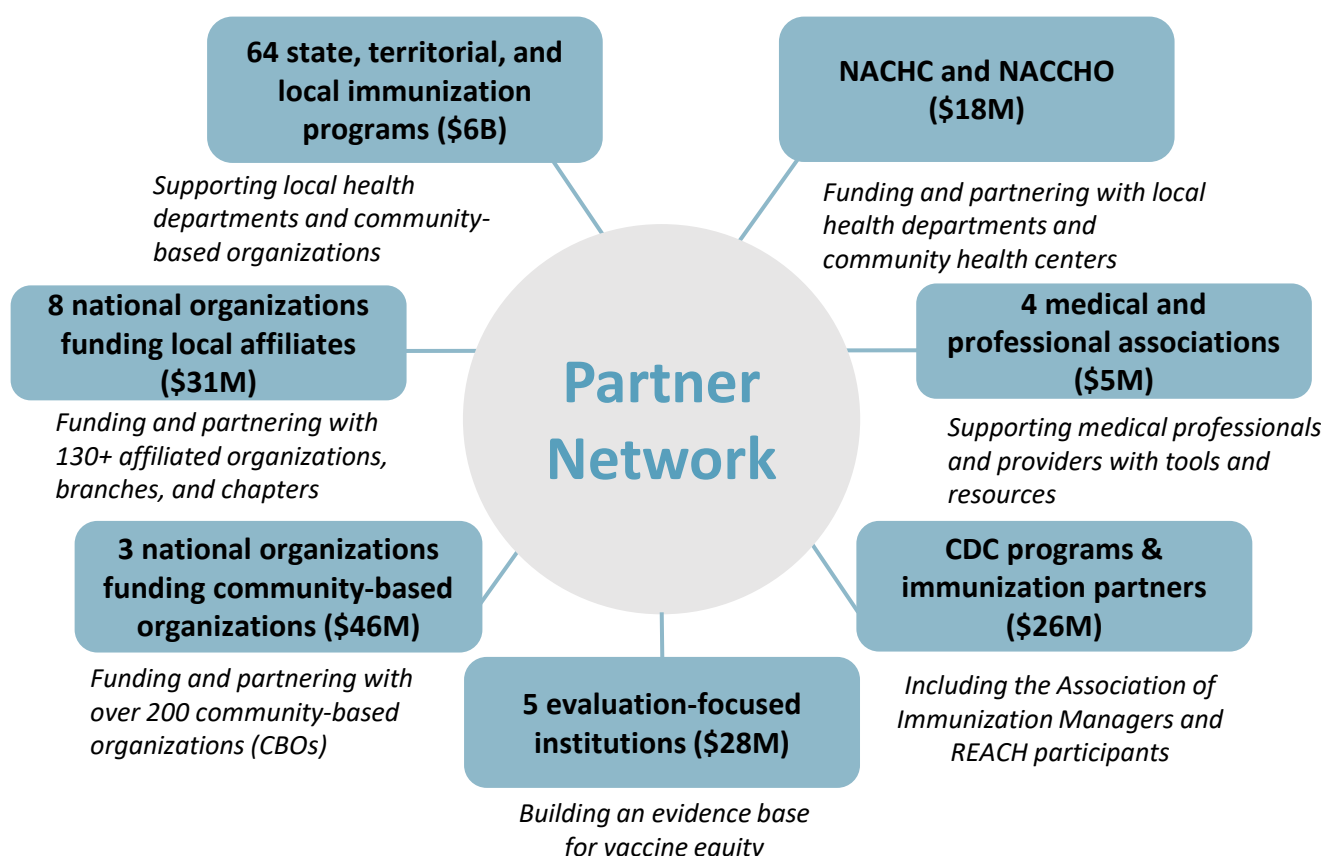

A learning community and data-informed technical assistance that support these partners with webinars, tailored resources, coaching, peer-to-peer information-sharing, and more.

National communications focused on promoting vaccine confidence and information and tracking and addressing mis- and disinformation.

Since 2020, the program has engaged over 500 partners to focus on reducing disparities specifically in racial and ethnic minority populations, including:
