Dear Colleague,

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the Health Initiative of the Americas, at the University of California Berkeley, will be co-hosting an hour-long webinar on December 14th, entitled "Zika: How can we protect Latino communities in the United States?"

The webinar is for Latino-serving community based organizations and individuals, and will cover basic information on the current outbreak situation, transmission, diagnosis, and effects of the disease, preventive measures and where to go for Zika resources in Spanish and for low-literacy audiences. Note that this webinar will be in English and the content is the same as what was presented on the September 20th webinar in Spanish. This webinar is not intended for clinicians or healthcare providers.

Please register and share widely to other organizations throughout your network-this is a great opportunity to learn more about Zika!

What: Zika: How can we protect Latino communities in the United States?
When: December 14, 2016 at 10:00 am PST/1:00 pm EST
Who: Dr. Monica Reyes and experts from CDC
Register here: https://cdc.zoom.us/webinar/register/d9e758fe86299039d746f627e8486654

After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about how to join the webinar on December 14th.

Best Regards,

CDC’s US-Mexico Unit & The Health Initiatives of the Americas